Dietz's Diamond Oil.

WE NOW OFFER TO THE PUBLIC in full confidence a new article of

KEROSENE OIL,

Which we warrant in every particular to be

Superior to any other Oil ever brought to the San Francisco market. It has been thoroughly tested in all the different Patent Coal Oil Burners, and found unequaled by one-third, than any other oil in use.

Among the many advantages of the KEROSENE OIL over other oils are: First that it can be perfectly NON-EXPLOSIVE and can be used with perfect safety in all kinds of LAMPS. Second It is free from all objectionable and unpleasant smells and burns with a clear white brilliant flame. We cordially solicit the public and FAMILIES to give this Oil a trial, and once free from defective smoke it will gain a preference over all other Oils, economy in use as well as superior burning qualities.

In order to protect ourselves against Counterfeits we have registered a brand on each can and case, which will be known as

DIETZ'S DIAMOND OIL.

It is now offered at wholesale and retail at 505 Front street,

Between Washington and Jackson streets, And at Branch Store 76 Second street, 2d door from Mission, San Francisco.

A. L. DIETZ & CO.

We have on hand a large stock of

COAL OIL LAMPS,

Which we are receiving by New York Ships. Also, Camphene, Coal Oil Fluid, Spirits of Alcohol, Turpentine, Lard Sperm, Polar, Rape Seed, Neat's-Foot, Linseed, Chimney and other Oils, etc., etc.

Country Dealers supplied on the most liberal terms. March 8th, 1862. dlm3

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 4, 186

Road to Washington County

The following communication and accompanying set of resolutions adopted by a portion of the citizens of Washington county, held at Forest Grove on the evening of June 17th relative to the construction of a good plank road wagon road from Portland to the Tualatin plains, should receive the attention of our citizens and especially our merchant and traders. The necessity of this road must be apparent to every one interested in the country trade, and if constructed will greatly increase the chances of those engaged in the exchange of country produce, besides giving a new impetus to developing the natural resources of that rich agricultural valley. Now we have a good practicable road to reach a market for their produce has long prevented the farmers and producers of this section from improving their lands, or trying to raise more than was only needed for home consumption. If a good road was made through the canyon many hundreds of bushels of wheat would be brought to this market from that section, where now but little more than enough is raised for bread at home, and there are hundreds of acres of agricultural land which will soon be opened up where now the timber and wild growth of the country cover the ground. We would urge the public spirit in assisting this undertaking with all the means that may be necessary for its completion as the expense would soon be returned in the profits to be realized from the increased amount of trade that would certainly flow from that section of the country into this. All the farmers ask is a little assistance in enabling them to construct this road and every one should be encouraged as we are all alike interested, to a greater or less extent in the improvement and advancement of our country and its facilities for trade and internal commerce. Just in proportion as the farmer is profited by the raising of produce so is the merchant and every other class benefited by the advantages afforded thereby in a new country, except it be in cases arising from accidental source, can be a merchant successful, and its people happy and prosperous, unless the farmer can realize a profitable return for his labor and industry. All other classes, trades and professions are dependent upon those who till the soil and produce therewithal to live and grow fat. Give the farmer of your country encouragement and you will reap the reward of a prosperous trade or mechanic.

FOREST GROVE, June 1 186

Editor Oregonian:

By the direction of a meeting held here last evening to consider the subject of the road to Portland, of which D. Lowry was chairman, I send you the following statement of Resolutions adopted.

Resolved, That we recommend to our fellow citizens to concentrate their efforts during the week beginning Wednesday the 18th inst. upon that portion of the road to Portland between the head of the canyon and the forks just west of the old tavern.

Resolved, That we recommend that Mr. R. F. Hawley takes charge of and directs said work, and that Mr. Harvey Scott be appointed as he shall appoint to collect the subscriptions needed.

Resolved, That we further call upon the citizens of Portland to unite in improvements in the canyon, as in fact it is for the interest as well as ours.

There will be objections found against the plans embodied in these resolutions which however, will not effect the main point namely that it affords an opportunity for any man who is disposed to do anything to operate with others in bettering his own part of this mountain country thoroughly.

S. H. M.

UNION YREKA.—We received last night Yreka, dated June 16th (two days later than our Sacramento dates) which declares that the telegraphic line from Sacramento to Yreka was now complete and in working order, but no dispatches from the Eastern States received at that place up to date of issue. As soon as the Central Telegraph Co. is in operation we shall receive regular dispatches from Yreka just received and brought by steamer from Sacramento.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Several buildings of significance commencing important improvements in our city, as soon as the water will admit of the erection of substantial buildings. Two fine brick dwellings are under contract to be erected on another on First street lead. Even brick buildings the timber is delivered on which are being fast prepared.

The Columbia river had fallen twenty five inches at Vancouver at latest dates.

THE MORNING OREGONIAN has a large SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

DAILY OREGONIAN ... Store, and at the ...

GRADING THE STREETS.—Now that the wa... are receding and the repairing of th... it will become necessary in a few days ... would suggest to property ... there that it would be wise to commence th... ing upon a more ... and substan... standard than has been done heretofore. ... flood has demonstrated an important fact ... our citizens, namely, that it is not safe to ... the erection of buildings, laying of floors, ... grading of sidewalks upon low grounds along ... river bank. It is true that an unusu... flood has occurred this year, the like of ... may never be seen again; yet, a simi... flood may come frequently, and possibly ... year, hence, it is better to be on safe ... and prepare, by erecting substantial ... waters or dams along the river bank ... the lower end of town, against another ... disastrous inundation. A good and sub... dyke can be built along the river ... from Abbe street all the way down a... the Brewery, at least, while cross dra... be made along the lower portion of the ... near Capt. Couch's residence, which would ... effectually protect our principal streets, and ... the entire city, from high water here ...

Let this be done, and then grade the ... running parallel therewith to the head ... his embankment, and we will have a ... city and streets, besides greatly to antify ... and adorning the city, and above all nec... by preventing an almost certain cause of ... sickness which always results from inhaling ... air arising from more than an hun... stagnant pools in the lower portion of ... city. Such an improvement would be ... creditable and profitable, by enhancing ... value of property in that locality, which is ... depreciate unless something of this kind ... ; but it would also be wise and bu... in greatly adding to the health and ... of those who are compelled to spend ... days in that at present unhealthy part ... town. As before remarked by us, we ... never seen a town as large as Portland ... such miserable and filthy streets and ... alks. They are a disgrace to the city ... gulation; no care taken in their con... tion or repairs. Here a plank sticks up; ... stump stands in the way; next an un... log, and an occasional stone; while ... quent intervals, in an ugly and hol... which draymen and teamsters dest... teams, bespattering the side-walks ... and people, who may happen to be ... reach; and these mud-holes and ob... ons are left from day to day, week to ... and we might almost say from year to ... without scarcely an effort being made to ... and fill them up, or clean the filth from ... street. It also seems that the inhabi... in many parts of the city appear to know ... other more convenient or appropriate ... to deposit the offals from their kitchens, ... ash which will accumulate about their ... and dwellings, than right in the middle ... street in front of their residences or ... of business, there to rot in the warm ... while the air around becomes loaded with ... alaria arising therefrom. Now, when ... tor recedes from the streets, it becomes ... inhabitant to interest himself in seeing ... the city is freed from the malaria which ... produce much disease and ill health ... out the entire city before the summer ...

Again we would urge the propriety ... mencing this work of repairing upon ... thing like a substantial and permanent ... such an improvement must eventually ... , and now is as good a time to com... the work as any that can possibly be ... after.

... ROUND.—Friend "Joseph," of the ... ser has evidently become somewhat ... lated, vide his article on "nuisance" ... evening's issue, wherein he states that ... nts in the southern portion of the city ... ed repairing as soon as the water re... sufficiently for that purpose. Perhaps ... trying to make believe that he has turn... and generally, but he can't play that off ... "web-feet," they know the c... than that. We will indulge the "hope," however, that the contents of ... peculiar "equivalents" for old rags ... casionally make him see things "straight" but he should "go slow" when such ... case, or he may lose his "stock in trade," and find a damp place in the ... portion of the city.

... FALLING.—The Willamette at Cha... preceded full two feet last night and ... o'clock, A. M., until 10 o'clock, P. M. ... day. Kit Butler, from Boonville.

Some ten years ago, when travelers in Oregon suffered very severely from attacks of Indians I was one of a party passing through that wild and unknown State, on my way to California. After a month's ride from the Willamette Valley, we diverged westward from the great emigrant trail, and found ourselves camped one evening on the trail to Crescent City, at its intersection by Deer Creek, an offshoot of the Illinois river. Our party consisted, besides myself, of two lethargic Germans, a feeble minded young artist lately from London, and a stark taciturn hunter from Missouri. During our long journey I had tried to be companionable with each of my fellow travelers in turn, and at last had fallen back on Kit Butler, the Missourian, with whom I gradually established terms of a smoking, not a speaking intimacy. On the evening of our encampment on Deer creek, supper having been eaten and the horses picketed before the setting the guard, each of us betook himself to his own private relaxation. This was for the German, sleep; for the artist, self examination by help of a small glass on a comb handle; for Kit and me, the resolving of ourselves into a vigorous smoking committee. When we had been smoking for some little time, Kit suddenly addressed me.

"Mate," he said, "this boss don't kinder fancy this hear camp, he don't."

To my eyes, a better camping ground could not have been selected. It was pitched on a flat prairie, where "wood, water and grass," were each at hand, while at the same time, there was no cover for lurking Indians nearer than the creek—a long rifle shot distant. But Kit, I observed, had his eye, miles and miles away, on a thin spiral column of smoke.

"An Indian camp fire!" I exclaimed.

"And Rogue River too near," Kit growled. I understood him. We were camped not far from the Rogue River, and it was likely enough the fire had been lit by an outlying party of the Rogue tribe, who had earned their sobriquet from being notoriously the most rascally Indians in all Oregon. The night, however, passed without an alarm. In the morning, the German's cattle, already half foundered, were found to be so badly galled by careless saddling, that it was agreed we should halt for four-and-twenty hours, to give the poor brutes a chance of recruiting.

Kit, who never descended to argument made a wry face at this plan, and catching up his rifle, prepared, as was his custom, for a hunt. I went with him, and after some hours, we got within range of a herd, and shot for supper a small elk, or wapito deer. On nearing camp again, we saw that our party had been joined by a young Indian lad. Equipped in a suit of dressed deerskin, with a good deal of Indian finery about him, he stood in an easy attitude by the camp fire, while our artist sketched him, and the Germans were looking on lazily. This admission of the Indian into camp was against all prairie laws, as it has been found that such visitors are invariably spies, and "trouble" is pretty sure to come of their visits. Kit, therefore, throwing down the venison, burst angrily into the group.

"I found him in the creek; I only wanted to draw him," explained the startled artist, dropping his sketching block and brush.

"Draw him!" Kit shouted, "I'll draw a bead on the young spy's carcass if he don't make tracks in less than no time. Mate!" said the fireful hunter to me, as the frightened redskin darted across the plain, "jest fix your shooting-irons right, for we'll have 'trouble' afore long. This coon knows nought of Injuns, he don't."

Impatient to get away from our present camp I was not sorry when the day drew to a close, and we began to prepare supper. While I chopped some wood for the fire, Kit cut up the carcass of the elk we had shot in the morning, and kneaded the flour for bread in the "prospecting" tin. When I had made up the fire, there was no water for the coffee.—As usual, our companions had been loafing about, aiding little or nothing in the indispensable camp duties. Somewhat annoyed, I bade one of the loafers take our tin saucepan down to the creek to fill it. Of course, there was a discussion of the lazy as to who should be at the trouble of performing this slight service. In the end, one of the Germans took the saucepan up, and, with an ungracious expletive, departed on his errand. My fire blazed away brightly, Kit's cake, propped up before it with a stone, was baking in the usual primitive fashion, and the venison steaks, cut up into little chunks, threaded on a peeled wand, were twirling over the embers. Still the German had not returned with the water. As, in spite of our hails, he did emerge from the hollow of the creek, which had a steep bank considerably higher than a man, his fellow countryman was dispatched to see what he was doing. When he in his turn had disappeared down the bank, I noticed that Kit, who sat on the ground twirling the spit, let it fall into the fire, and seemed to listen anxiously to a sound that reached only an ear quick as his. But shortly an awful shout arose.—It was a heart-rending appeal for help, and I should certainly have responded to it by rushing down to the creek, but that the powerful grasp of Kit, who had now risen from the ground, withheld me. Again, and this time fearfully prolonged, the cry of a man in his extremity arose, and we saw the second German struggling desperately from the creek. Even from the distance at which we stood, we could perceive that during the few moments of his absence, he had passed through a terrible ordeal, for his clothes, where not torn completely away, hung in strips about his person, and exposed the naked flesh, crimson with many slashes, telling that the cruel and silent knife had been at work on him. For a moment, this ghastly figure extended its arms toward us, and uttered another cry, but fainter than before. It was his last effort. Apparently seized from behind by an unseen hand, the unfortunate man tottered for a moment, then threw up arms, sank back, and disappeared down the creek. Kit was the first of the witnesses of this shocking tragedy to break silence. "Injuns!" he cried—but his explanation was superfluous, for as he uttered it, a crowd of redskins jumped forth from the creek, and charged down upon us with peeling whoops.

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

Of all diseases the first great cause Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret disease—Self Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Stricture, Gleet, Gravel, Blindness, Weakness of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes. Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epilepsy or Fits, St. Vitus' Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. No matter from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their mercurial cures. The medicines prescribed are pleasant without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases had been given up helpless by their physicians, which warrants me in promising relief to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is rarely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons who not only fail to cure the disease but ruin the constitution filling the system with mercury which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a premature consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries the disease is entailed by inheritance on the children who are born with it, bearing with them the current of life corrupted by its virus, which betrays itself in a loathsome tetter, ulcerous eruptions and blotches on the skin eyes, throat and lungs, enfeebling the existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self abuse is another formidable enemy to health for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes more drawing tortions from, down to an untimely grave. It destroys the very essence and energies of life, unfits the married state, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wretched in body and mind predisposed to consumption and insanity, and is more to be dreaded than death itself. Whether I assume the disease misfortune or crime that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and without the detriment of ruining practice my patients can be restored to robust vigor and health.

Irregularities and all diseases of males and females treated on principles established by fifteen years' practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures—Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the States, Oregon and Washington Territory by sailing their acquaintance by letter.

All business or correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY Medical Institute, Sacramento street, directly opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three ladies suffering from the pangs of disease who having received their former health and liberated by the skill of Dr. Czapkay in their cases and remedial agents and have rendered an authenticated by a Notary Public. Their names can be unreservedly command their publication if necessary and their consent to the attention of all afflicted.

Gentlemen—The undersigned, a victim of sequestering those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted which appointment to call at the office, as I am sufferings may be alleviated, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay for the restoration to the recovery of his health, from which he was down by the distressing symptoms of the secret habits of youth, depressed in body and mind the passion of youth, depressed in body and mind the most terrible fancies as visions of life. I sought the advice of many physicians as visions of life. I sought the advice of many physicians and received but little benefit, gained only temporary relief, and was discouraged from ever expecting a cure—but after a few weeks' attendance by the above named physician, I was restored to sound health and strength, and am now enjoying the full vigor of manhood. I therefore take pleasure in recommending to all those who are afflicted as I have been, that they may place themselves under the care of Dr. Czapkay, and be restored to health and happiness. Yours, with gratitude,
[L. S.] JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

Marysville, June 5d, 1858.

Dr. L. J. Czapkay San Francisco—Sir, I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more as I feel very well except that I have not got my strength yet but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks you may recollect, since I called on your Institute, with my constitution, as I thought, half ruined, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but the night you came, you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves, so that I would not get excited and it will do everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of those sores and boils from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the stricture, discharges of those emissions, which you said were private, the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you what is the greatest my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited, you may put this letter in the newspapers. Believe me gratefully yours,
THOMAS HAYNES.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves commendation not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me was seized with a fit of apoplexy, which owing to my inability to meet the expense consequent upon thorough medical treatment, and the disagreement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of my physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my occupation, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although insensible to the agonies, I yet depicted the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my misery. While in this state and having, previous to my affliction, tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to trust myself in a physician, and, by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.

State of California, county of San Francisco, ss. Sworn to and sworn to before me this 1st day of August, A. D. 1860.
